

Robert Holzer, RECENDT - Research Center for Non-Destructive Testing GmbH

AI at Industrial Sensing

Robert Holzer from the Austrian research company RECENDT provides examples of industrial applications non-destructive testing, process integrated sensing and analytics. Based on those, the short talk will show the applicability of AI in industrial sensing, the applied concepts and the pathways to their application.