Artificial Intelligence

20 April 2023
11 a.m. - 4 p.m.
University of Passau

The Trinational Round Table on artificial intelligence (AI) supports the networking of artificial intelligence experts from Czech, German and Austrian universities and presents the latest research results in the field of machine learning and related technologies. Join us on April 20, 2023 at the University of Passau and discuss the different research fields of artificial intelligence and its applications with other scientists. In addition to scientific short presentations, there will be ample time for discussion. The language of the Trinational Round Table is English.

Since 2021, the Trinational Round Table on artificial intelligence has been organised by the Europaregion Donau-Moldau e. V. and the KI Campus Ostbayern. The event is a good opportunity for AI-scientists to network and exchange ideas on their latest research results. In 2021 and 2022 the Trinational Round Table took place online. This year, we want to offer an on-site event at the University of Passau, so that participants can meet and get to know each other face to face.

We are looking for further short presentations on AI!

For the Trinational Round Table we are still looking for further short scientific presentations of 10 minutes maximum.

Are you working with artificial intelligence methods in your research and would like to give us a brief overview of your work? Then send us a short summary of your possible contribution in English until March 15, 2023: info@kico.bayern
